SOME of the lumpy jawed cattle in Chicago have only two legs.

DEMOCRATIC policy can be enforced without resort to un-democratic measures.

THE Democratic party cannot legislate without counting quorums the people will get up a party that can.

PERHAPS the courtesy with which Mr. Gladstone treats the British Peers is only preliminary to a set-to.

NOT quorum counting, but a little more unity in the Democratic party is the best thing to invoke at this time.

SENATORIAL courtesy is stretched far when it allows ex-Senators on the floor to lobby in behalf of an infamous tariff law.

THERE will be sweetness and light in the Supreme Court when the new justice from the great sugar State gets into his mother Hubbard.

A SALOONKEEPER in jail in Kansas with the drug stores running wide open must strike the thirsty Kansans as somewhat unusual.

IT is not vanity alone which prompts ex-Speaker Reed to induce the Democrats to give King Caucus absolute power. He is looking to the future of plutocracy.

THERE seems to be no lack of a quorum in the Italian Chamber of Deputies. The members are all there, shaking their fists or threatening to kick one another.

THE base ingratitude of protected Minnesota lumbermen in stealing the State's timber should be sternly rebuked by Mr. McKinley in his next great effort.

THE determination to meet the police emergency without a reduction of the force is wise. A little mental activity and perseverance go a long way in meeting public difficulties.

POPULAR apprehension that money and influence may defeat justice in the Duestrow case is not allayed by the distinguished consideration shown the prisoner and his attorneys by Prosecuting Attorney Dierkes.

THE impassioned protest of the Choc-taws against the land allotment proposition was drawn up by the white Indians who reap most of the profits of the common lands. They are naturally opposed to the cutting off of their privileges.

GLADSTONE has appointed his son-in-law to be Dean of Lincoln, and the British press has not even dared to throw a joke at the Grand Old Man about it. Some of our statesmen should follow the example of William Waldorf Astor and become Englishmen.

CONGRESSMAN BLAND says the Democratic members of Congress from New York are not Democrats. Will Mr. Blaine kindly define a Democrat? The party lines are so hazy in some quarters that it is hard to distinguish the genuine from the spurious Democracy.

MONEY will be freely used to shorten the free list and put duties on iron, coal, sugar and wool. But better than money is a "retained" Senator whose interest it is to vote for high taxation. If mining and sugar stocks could be properly placed a lobby wouldn't be necessary.

EVERYTHING is serene again in the Court of Criminal Corruption. When Judge Claiborne said that no one had a right to sign bonds in his court except himself he forgot that Clerk Fitzgerald sometimes did it as an accommodation to the court and its friends. The amende honorable has been made.

THE resignation of Senator Mills from the sub-committee appointed to consider the Wilson bill, if the report is true, an indication that the reactionaries and high protection "retained" Senators are getting the best of it in the tariff fight. The Dem-cratic party must very soon find out "where it is at" or suffer the fate of the lost. It is developing a remarkable genius for imbecility.

IF Congressman Bland is as good a Democrat as he claims to be, he will not insist upon paralyzing the House or forcing through it a bill which cannot muster a majority to support it. He will not commit the Democracy to an undemocratic, arbitrary rule to enable him to enforce the dictates of the party caucus for the benefit of his pet measure. That would not be Democratic.

RUSSIA is to terminate her treaty of commerce with France, while Russia and Germany keep up a friendly trade, what a waste of time it is for the Russian fleet to go to Toulon. It is plain that high tariffs cause ill feeling between nations and that the nearer they come to free trade the more friendly they become. Unshackled commerce may eventually disband the standing armies of Europe and improve the condition of mankind everywhere.

THE election in Pennsylvania for Congressman-at-Large resulted in Republican victory by a largely increased majority. The Keystone State is given over to its idols, and it is doubtful if it is worth while for the Democracy to make a demonstration. The Carnegies, Fricks, Dusters, Wanamakers and the rest own the State and all the people in it. That they wish to do as they will with their own is natural and proper. But it is hard on the hapless victims who are deceived or bullied into voting for a policy which only deepens their misery and rivets their chains tighter.

THE DUESTROW CASE.

IT is the duty of the Court of Criminal Correction in murder cases to give the accused an immediate preliminary trial. The object of such a trial is to discharge the prisoner if there is not sufficient ground on which to hold him to await the action of the Grand-jury. He can waive such preliminary trial and voluntarily remain in prison if he elects to do so. If he does not so elect, then it is the public duty of the Prosecuting Attorney of the Court of Criminal Correction to see that he is given a prompt trial for the purpose of securing sworn testimony for the Grand-jury before a defense with plenty of money can have time to tamper with witnesses or induce them to hide where no process of the law can reach them.

The action of Prosecuting Attorney Dierkes in consenting to a postponement of the preliminary trial of Duestrow when he had plenty of evidence to justify the commitment of the prisoner without bail, is generally interpreted as a very bold attempt to favor an indefinite postponement of the indictment and trial which must come off in another court.

This unwarranted delay, favoring efforts to disarm the prosecution, and the reported disappearance of the Howard woman, have greatly increased the street talk about the impotence of the law to deal with a rich murderer, no matter how atrocious his crime. It has visibly intensified the tendency towards mob vengeance in this case. There was too much of that feeling already prevalent, and it is to be regretted that it has been stimulated and dangerously increased by an obviously improper concession from a public prosecutor.

A CAUCUS DEADLOCK.

SOME foolish persons in Washington and elsewhere are filling the country with wails over the alleged impotence of the House of Representatives because Congressman Bland is unable to drum up a majority to pass his seigniorage bill.

These persons declare that the House is in a state of practical imbecility and that some way of compelling members to vote to make up a quorum must be devised. It is proposed to fine members who refuse to vote. It is even intimated that the Democracy will have to fall back upon Tom Reed's arbitrary rule of counting a quorum.

All of this is hysterical nonsense. It is not the impotence of the House which obstructs business, but the impotent determination of the Democratic caucus to pass a bill which is not acceptable to a majority of the members of the House. If there were a majority of the House heartily in favor of Mr. Bland's bill he would have no difficulty in commanding a quorum to pass it. The trouble is that a party caucus has empowered him to hold up the House until he has exhausted every resource known to parliamentary ingenuity to compel members to vote whether they will or not. The deadlock may be broken at once by dropping the bill or by prevailing on a majority of members to favor its passage.

The Reed quorum-counting rule was not designed to aid the majority of the House to transact business. The majority is all powerful whenever it chooses to exert its power. It needs no aid to transact any business it wants to transact. The rule was not designed to promote the welfare of the country in the House. That can be taken care of by the majority elected for the purpose.

The whole object of the Reed rule and any other arbitrary rule of a similar kind is to strengthen the power of King Caucus. Its purpose is to enable the majority of a party, which may constitute a minority of the House to compel the House to submit to its dictates. It is a handy rule to enable the masters of the party caucus to force their will upon the people without the consent of the majority of their representatives.

If the Democrats yield the clamor for arbitrary measures they will play into the hands of plutocratic Republicanism and will open the way to absolute, capricious rule. Compulsory voting is undemocratic and inimical to the rights of representative and the interests of the people.

THE PENNSYLVANIA NAVY.

THE Pennsylvania Naval Militia is going to build a modern gunboat to cost $40,000 for use in the neighborhood of Pittsburgh. The boat will be armored, with a protected stern wheel and of very light draft. It will be a genuine novelty in more ways than one.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch thinks very highly of the new navy. It "will prove of valuable service in time of riot." Had Mr. Frick possessed such a navy, for instance, at the time of the Homestead strike the uprising would have been crushed almost at the outset by a bombardment of the strikers' quarters. They would have been reduced to subjugation or driven out promptly. All the long agony would have been avoided and the majesty of Pennsylvania law vindicated by a few well-directed dynamite shells.

An inland navy to cruise in Pittsburgh waters is imperatively demanded by public sentiment in Pennsylvania, as is amply shown by the majority of 120,000 given for Galusha Grow. Pennsylvanians always express themselves with emphasis on election day and in riots. It is impossible to mistake the meaning of the riots with which the State has been tormented from one year's end to another. A decided stand must be taken against the mob spirit, and as Pittsburgh is situated a navy is one of the first conditions of good order.

The popularity of the navy is shown by the fact that the first boat will be built by voluntary subscriptions from members of the Pittsburgh branch of the military marine. It will cost $40,000, which is a large sum for a few young fellows to subscribe, but they are very patriotic. "Such an incident," says the Philadelphia Record, "shows how the idea of a volunteer navy has appealed to popular sentiment in the State."

But is it not strange that an army and navy are necessary to keep free men in order in 1894? And in whose interest are they to be kept in order? The Southern slave owner was not obliged to support a navy to prevent an uprising of the blacks. Why are the whites of the North more unruly and lawless?

NO ASSISTANT REPUBLICANISM.

SOME unpleasant rumors are slipping out of the room of the Senate Finance Committee with regard to senatorial log-rolling on the tariff bill.

It is intimated that several Democratic Senators are trying to form combinations in the interest of their constituents which threaten the free list of the bill. The sugar lobby with its retained Senators leads all the rest in pernicious activity. Senator Vest is reported to be wavering on sugar through the influence of a Missouri lobbyist headed by State Committee men "Tom" Connor and "Bill" Phelps.

Senator Vest has had proof of the temper of Missouri Democrats toward cuckooism, but it is a mild zephyr to a cyclone in comparison with their temper toward assistant Republicanism. The corporation attorneys on the Central Committee and the lead lobbyists are bad advisers for a Missouri Senator in this matter. The Senator from any Western State who aids in reducing the free list or in modifying the moderate reductions of the tariff schedules will have a hard row to hoe when he reaches home.

There is only one change that a Democratic Senator can vote to make in the Wilson bill with fidelity to his principles and his party pledges—that is a change for the better, for a bigger free list and lower duties.

THE Hon. Buck Kilgore of Texas is making himself exceedingly unpopular with some of his fellow-Congressmen. It is customary for Congressmen with private pension bills to attend the Friday night sessions and run each others' measures through. As a rule about a score of Congressmen attend these sessions for mutual benefit. Mr. Kilgore has constituted himself Friday night watchman of the House and declines to let private bills go through without a quorum. Getting a quorum to attend is out of the question, so the private bills are not going through as usual. Mr. Kilgore says that a pension case worth attending to can get through the Pension Office or a full meeting of the House. Others ought to be stopped. Mr. Kilgore is right and the country will support him in the role of night watchman of the Treasury.

HAD McKinley or Reed ever been President their booms might not be any bigger than Harrison's. There is no Blaine man to pop up every now and then and abuse Reed and McKinley. One of the Blaine implacables asserts that Mr. Harrison was not disposed to make Mr. Blaine Secretary of State and that the appointment was made at the eleventh hour. Mr. Harrison was nominated at Minneapolis by his cuckoos, but when Mr. Blaine was making a great reputation as Secretary of State Mr. Harrison "tried to take all the credit and to force the master mind into obscurity." With the ghost of Blaine sitting along the route of the ice-wagon, Mr. Harrison's second journey toward the White House will be more or less disagreeable, and may end in the horses getting scared and upsetting the driver.

"A CANKER has been discovered on the body politic in the city," says a Chicago dispatch. It appears that this "cancer on the body politic" is "lumpy jaw," a loathsome cattle disease, and 8,000 or 10,000 cattle with "lumpy jaw" are slaughtered and eaten in the Windy City every year. Men, horses and dogs are said to contract the disease as well as cattle. In this new trouble the Chicagoans may forget the woes brought upon them by the Columbian Exposition.

It seems likely that the New York dog show will be a great financial success. The title will be hard indeed when a dog with a pedigree is not well provided for. He is not only better paid than many a man who has no pedigree, but he is much surer of his living than hundreds of men who have pedigrees.

ROOSTERS IN RELIGION.

FROM THE NEW YORK EVENING WORLD.
An original preacher of this city used a live rooster in his sermon yesterday to illustrate how the devil takes men by the nose and leads them. The rooster was placed on a horizontal blackboard, and a chalk-line drawn straight away from his bill. He was motionless for a minute, and then threw back his crested head and crowed. As an objective sermon, with baryard trimmings, it was a magnificent success. The entire congregation enjoyed it hugely, and the children crowded as loudly as the rooster.

The same preacher has used snakes and other things in his sermons. The ophidians ingredients were real and not imaginary, and the sidewalk effects have been introduced for the purpose of simplifying the moral that went with every sermon. It seems to us that the rooster in church was about the best idea that the preacher could have hit upon. If one could always be secured that had "lungs" as a pressure of minute, and then throw might have them incoherently in the service to awaken those members of the congregation whose chins are fallen or heads bent back, and whose regular breathing is about to roll itself up into a snore.

MODERN MEN OF WAR.

FROM THE PHILADELPHIA RECORD.
Six more of the crew of the German cruiser Brandenburg have died, bringing the total number of deaths as a result of the explosion to forty-six. The cause of this disaster has not been learned. The indicators having shown a pressure of only 7,000 horse-power, and much greater steam development having been previously sustained by the engine. The terrible results of the explosion would seem to indicate that the shot and shell of an enemy are not the only dangers that a man-of-war's man is exposed to, and that the risks assumed by the inmates of the engine-room (whom the officers of the line are as great as the risks run by the active fighting force on board of a ship).

How to Reach Them.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
The offer of "Wealthy Citizens" in your Sunday issue to start the subscription among his class with either $250 or $500 is the first step in a direction which ought to be made if quick returns.

There are 4,000 citizens in St. Louis who may be additionally rated at $20,000 and upwards, with 10,000 additional who scale above the $200 limit, and their addresses are available at an hour's notice.

Of this 4,000 there are about 200 who are foreign born, and who are open to all and every measure of amelioration, while the balance are forever fretting lest a dollar should escape them without the hope of its early return with a mate.

The city's employers, employees and unemployed are not who blind to this, but who is to lead the attack on those purse-strings drawn so tightly over the rent-roll accumulations?

If this "Wealthy Citizen" of the 200 will help himself and consent to be the "bell weather" for so large a drive it may be made to lead to very surprising results as a little less may leave than the whole lump of $300,000.

Suggestion—Mail circulars once a week, each directed to each address of the 4,000, the persistence will eventually weaken one or two hundred of them.

HARRY GOSLOWEY.

A Query.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Last Sunday afternoon my father-in-law and myself took a Mound City car of the Scullin line at Fifteenth street and St. Louis avenue, with the intention of taking a transfer to the Twelfth and Pine streets to the blue cars of the Union Depot line. Arriving at the latter point I asked the conductor for two track tickets to the Union Depot car being at a standstill but a few feet away. He replied that we did not need any transfers, but that we must go to the car and comply with the instructions we had gone by.

At the same time when the conductor of the Union Depot line demanded tickets or fare, I explained the circumstances, but of no avail, as we were obliged to either pay another fare or vacate.

Now, it is not the amount, but the principle involved, that induces me to inquire if it was a sample of a systematic confidence game that is being played, or a mere accident. I would be charitable, or a mere accident. I would be charitable, or a mere accident. I would be charitable, or a mere accident.

PUT UP HIS MONEY.

George Baptiste Issues a Duly at Max Luttbeg.

WILLING TO TURN OVER THE RECEIPTS TO CHARITY.

He Means Business and Wants Nothing More Than an Even Break—Pat Tebeau Of Cleveland—Jockeys in Race Track Judges' Stands—General Sporting News and Gossip.

Wrestler George Baptiste is convinced that he can throw Max Luttbeg, the former Past Athletic Club instructor, at catch weights, and is exceedingly anxious for Luttbeg to grant him an opportunity to demonstrate the fact before a St. Louis audience.

A Post-Dispatch representative this morning Baptiste said:

"I understand Luttbeg has announced his willingness to meet me on the mat at any time or place, for such side stake as may please me and the entire gate receipts. Now, of course, he knows that it will be impossible for me to train down to his weight, so that if he wants a match, catch weights must be conceded. However, I cannot rest assured that I shall take a thorough course of training before I meet him, and when we do come together I shall weigh in as low as good, hard training can get me. Regarding the side stake I should say $250 would be sufficient, but if this figure does not suit him, he can just name whatever he wants. I am satisfied to go on and wrestle for me. In return for conceding me catch weights, I will wrestle him at his own weight, catch-as-catch-can, and I don't want the stranger or any other hold barred. Everything goes with me, and I stand prepared to put up my money right now. As I understand it Luttbeg was the winner to take the entire gate receipts minus the necessary expenses of bringing the match off. This is satisfactory to me, and the Post-Dispatch can announce that if I win every cent of this money goes to the 'Luttbeg Fund.' Of course, I have no idea how Luttbeg feels about this matter, but I am sure he will be satisfied to have the entire receipts turned over to the fund. I am satisfied to go on and wrestle for me. IT CAUSED GREAT DISAPPOINTMENT IN HIGH MINISTERIAL RANKS.

A Cabinet Council summoned for Friday—Some Important Movement on the Part of the Government Expected—The Chronicle's Comment on the Premier's Lack of Spirit.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Gladstone's attitude towards the House of Lords in the House of Commons yesterday has caused disappointment even to high officials in the Ministerial ranks, while the Radicals do not disguise the fact that they are indignant. A Cabinet Council has been summoned for Friday, and some important movement on the part of the Government is expected.

The Chronicle's editorial upon yesterday's debate is causing a sensation. The Unionist papers reprinted it with big headlines and pretend to look upon it as a call for Mr. Gladstone to resign. The Chronicle called the debate a ludicrous farce and said that it would be difficult to imagine more undignified and pointless obsequies. The editorial said that Mr. Gladstone's speech was totally unworthy of the occasion and that it chilled his followers to the bone. "The Liberal party," it said, "has a right to know where it stands. If Mr. Gladstone feels that age and infirmity press too heavily upon him for the leadership of an uncompromising crusade, it is for him to say so."

The Chronicle's special House of Commons lobby reporter said it is difficult to imagine a more painful performance. The Premier's voice, he asserts, was rough and broken and even his words came with difficulty. There was not a hint which suggested that the Peers were not most estimable. In conclusion he remarked: "It was only a terrible send-off for a great movement."

Two of the accused were acquitted, and the remainder were sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from three years to a fortnight.

Those receiving the heavy sentences were convicted of high treason and were members of a secret society. Those who received light sentences were only convicted of disturbing the peace.

When the Girl

is changed into a woman, the matter of utmost importance to her is the regularity with which nature purifies her system. She should avoid retention, suppression, or irregularity. When nature is balked, the blood becomes poisoned, heart, lungs, and kidneys are affected, and you have a wreck of a beautiful life to mourn.

Be advised, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest remedy for irregular, painful, or suspended action ever known. All druggists have it, and thousands of women recommend it. Many a girl has been returned to health by its use.

WILL TELEPHONE CASE

HILL MAY BE CENSURED.

Committed a Breach of Rules in Making Public an Executive Session Speech.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.—The action of Senator Hill in making public the speech which he delivered on Monday in executive session on the Supreme Court nomination may cause a vote of censure to be passed upon him. The rules fully provide for censure and even expulsion for the divulgence of any matter considered in secret session.

No Senator now in office can recall a previous instance of the publication of a verbatim report of a speech delivered in executive session. It is not considered probable that extreme measures will be taken in Hill's case, but the sentiment of the more serious-minded members is apparently for some expression that will voice the Senate's displeasure.

GEN. SHELBY'S NOMINATION.

Opposed in Executive Session by Chandler and Defended by Vest and Cockrell.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.—Gen. Joe Shelby's nomination to be United States Marshal for the Western District of Missouri was considered in executive session by the Senate yesterday afternoon. The committee reported on Shelby's nomination was favorable, but Senator Chandler made reference to Shelby's Confederate army record and opposed confirmation. Shelby was defended warmly by Senators Vest and Cockrell, both of whom stated that Gen. Shelby had never before been accused of doing anything illegitimate in warfare. They cited the fact that Shelby was warmly welcomed by the Grand Army of the Republic, by ex-Gov. T. J. Fletcher, by Col. Hobt. Van Horn of the Kansas City Journal and by other leading Republicans.

It is believed that Shelby would have been confirmed but for the discovery at the close of the debate that there was no quorum.

TWO COLLISIONS.

Oliver Street and Cass Avenue Cars Figure in Both Meetings.

A double street car collision, which fortunately had no serious results, occurred this morning between cars on the Cass avenue line and the Oliver street line. Grip car No. 15 of the Cass avenue line bumped into motor car No. 2 of the Oliver street line at Seventh and Olive, and motor car No. 23 of the Cass avenue line ran against grip car No. 4 of the Oliver street line at Eighth and Olive streets. Grip car No. 15 of the Cass avenue line was in charge of Conductor W. S. Richardson. It had just unloaded its crowd of early morning passengers at Fourth street, shortly before 8 o'clock, and was returning on its westward trip, when at Seventh street the Cass avenue car came crashing across Oliver street from the south, in charge of Motorcar Alce Stewart and Conductor W. Reynolds.

Before the Oliver street grip car could stop the car it had smashed into the green coach, torn a hole in its side and knocked it from the track. Fortunately the passengers were not injured. The Cass avenue car was badly shaken up, and after considerable time occupied in re-mov-ing the cars and clearing the track, traffic was resumed. The collision occurred about ten minutes after 8 o'clock. It might have been much more disastrous, as both cars were crowded with passengers.

J. W. Caldwell, the motorcar driver on the Cass avenue line, was in charge of the car. He was not injured. The motorcar driver on the Oliver street line was not injured.

The cars smashed together, but the Cass avenue car had a start and sped by un-injured, leaving the Oliver street car in the front of the grip car. The passengers in both trains were badly shaken up. Several ladies screamed. One young lady in the Cass avenue car, Miss Wiedman of 1729 North Nineteenth street, fainted from the excitement but when taken to a store near by by Officers Fox and Hill revived. She is employed in the Cass avenue car.

Said to be Connected With a Gang of Counterfeiters.
OMAHA, Neb. 21.—A 16-year-old girl giving the name of Maud Wilson of Rich Hill, Mo., was arrested last night by the agents of the secret service, charged with passing counterfeit coin. It is believed that she has been acting for a gang of counterfeiters whose clever work in 25-cent, 50-cent and $1 pieces has flooded this section with spurious money.
The girl denies all knowledge of the crime. She is bright and good looking and has been visiting the family of T. T. Jones. She says she left Rich Hill six months ago on account of the ill treatment she received from her step-mother.
At Rich Hill, Mo., no such person as Maud Wilson is known. If she falls from this Wilson is an assumed name.

His Enemies Have Little Hope of His Escaping a Term in Sing Sing.
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Boss John Y. McKane's friends have little hope that Judge Cullen's order for the prosecution to show why a certificate of doubt should be granted McKane will prove effectual in keeping their leader from going to Sing Sing this week. It is not thought that Judge Bartlett made any blunders during the trial. If Judge Cullen decides the application adversely, the Coney Island king will go immediately to the state prison.
McKane is quite ill at Raymond Street jail. He is troubled with a cough and has been in the hospital several times. He is not allowed to receive visitors, and he is not allowed to write or receive letters.
The cases of the fifteen election inspectors and other employees at the Gravesend elections were called yesterday before Judge Cullen. In some the pleas of not guilty were entered, while in others the hearing was postponed. The prosecution has about decided to try Judge Newton first.

Wholesale Asphyxiation and the Death of a Non-Combatant Result.
ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Enmity between sophomores and freshmen of Ithaca University was the cause of a riot and the death of a non-combatant last night. The freshmen gave a banquet at Masonic Hall, down town, and when their procession reached the hall its entrance was hindered by a group of sophomores, seniors and town boys. The freshmen were pelted with potatoes, eggs and stones, and a triple force of police were for the time unable to restore order. Two of the mob were arrested, and most of the disturbers followed them to the police station, trying to effect their release by force.
The freshmen now entered the hall and held their banquet, but the sophomores, getting possession of a side room, generated riotous and offensive gas, which caused some of the freshmen to become very ill. Not a few were asphyxiated to the point of insensibility, and Miss Jackson, the freshmen's negro cook, who post in the kitchen was more directly exposed to the fumes of gas, died at 12:30.
Several waiters were overpowered and inhumanely treated. The freshmen charge that the sophomores also placed gas in their food. Indignation against the disturbers is at fever heat in the community.

HAD HIS LICENSE.
Ted David Davis was summoned into Court by Collector Ziegenheim.
David Davis, who keeps a restaurant at No. 2281 Franklin avenue, was a defendant in the Second District Police Court to-day, charged with operating his place without a license. When the case was called Davis, who was in court, walked up to Assistant City Attorney Mulvihill's desk and astonished that official by showing him a license he had secured at Collector Ziegenheim's office on Feb. 9. This made Mr. Mulvihill rather hot, for on looking up the records he found that it was on Feb. 15 that a representative of the Collector called on Clerk Louis J. Huber and had him issue a summons for Davis. "I don't see what the Collector's department means, anyhow," said the Assistant City Attorney.
Here a man pays his restaurant license on Feb. 9, and a week after the Collector's office has a summons issued for him to appear in court and explain why he has not paid his license. It's either a very careless or very mysterious method of doing business.
The case against Davis was quickly nolle prossed, and the case of G. H. Anderson and John R. Ahearn, two other restaurant keepers who were also charged with not having licenses were dismissed for want of prosecution. An Deputy Collector Carl Unger failed to appear against them.

MRS. LEASE'S FIGHT.
The Populist National Committee Will Not Take It Up—To-Morrow's Meeting.
Mr. H. E. Taubeneck, one of the leaders of and Chairman of the National Central Committee of the Populist party, arrived at the Lindell Hotel last night. Mr. Taubeneck was seen by a Post-Dispatch representative this morning, and in reference to the meeting of the Populist party to be held here to-morrow, said he: "It is the National Central Committee and Reform Press Association which are to meet at 10 a. m. to-morrow in one of the Lindell parlors, and it is not a convention. There will be three delegates from each state besides the representatives of the Reform Press Association. The meeting will be executive and I can not say what will be done. The primary object of the meeting, however, is to discuss ways and means and a plan for the next campaign. If you will think until after the meeting I think we may have some interesting information to give, but at present I can say nothing. No, we will not interfere in the row between Mrs. Lease and Gov. Lowalling of Kansas. That is entirely a state affair, and as this is a national meeting, we of course could not consider the matter. Mrs. Lease is an individual and not a leader nor the party, and there can be no injury to the party in Kansas result from a disagreement between individual members."
The outcome of the Populist party was never brighter. In the South the Democrats are coming into our ranks, and in the West the Republicans are following the example set by the Democrats in the South. In six counties in Georgia in elections since the last general election, the Populists have won victories. We will have some distinguished statesmen with us to-morrow. Among them: Alexander Coleman of Denver, Ignatius Donnelly of Minnesota, Gen. S. M. McKim of Arkansas, J. B. McQuinn of Tennessee, J. H. Davis of Texas, popularly known as "Cyclone" Davis, Mr. C. H. Rankin of Indiana, Dr. S. McClelland of Kansas, H. L. Loyock of South Dakota, ex-President of the Farmers Alliance, Thos. J. Turner of Little Rock, Ark., who was United States Marshal under Cleveland's first administration; Paul H. Turner of Georgia and Lawrence J. McFarland of New York; Thomas Watson, ex-Congressman of Georgia, and N. O. Strickler of Nebraska.

THE COLONNA LITIGATION.
A United States Supreme Court Case Which May Affect It.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.—It is said by the legal authorities about the United States Supreme Court that the status of the contention between Prince and Princess Colonna may be materially affected by a case soon to be heard before that court. The differences between the Prince and Princess have recently attracted attention on both sides of the Atlantic, and have been intensified by the Princess's escape with her children from France to this country, in spite of a custody of the children to the Prince.
The case soon to be heard in the United States Supreme Court is as to the extent to which the judgment of a French court can be enforced in the United States. This case involves a judgment for about $50,000, given by the French courts against Hilton, Hughes & Co. of New York. The French judgment is being contested on the ground that the case should have been tried in this country, where the American defendants could have received a full and fair jury hearing. It has also been urged that the French courts give no recognition to the decrees or judgments of American courts, and that if an American wants redress in France he must go to France to get it.
Should the Supreme Court sustain the French judgment it is said that the precedent will be established governing the Colonna case and other international litigations. Prince Colonna has the decree of a French court favorable to his custody of the Colonna children, but the Princess has removed the children from the jurisdiction of the French court. If, however, the precedent is established that decrees of French courts can be enforced in this country, it is said that this is only one of a number of cases involving international domestic entanglements which would be affected by a ruling favorable to enforcing the judgments and decrees of foreign courts.
